Your SPFH endures a tremendous amount of wear and tear each season. Fortunately, John Deere now offers a solution for your most-often-replaced SPFH parts—one that gives them exceptional strength and service life. Dura-Line is a high-tech, factory-coating process that fuses a chrome-carbide layer to base metal parts—for unprecedented protection. Just imagine...the less time you spend replacing parts, the more time you can spend in the field—and the more profitable your SPFH becomes. No part lasts forever, but Dura-Line is the next best thing—and it's only from John Deere. Talk with Castongia today!
